Proven by thousands of temperature datasets, the earth's climate fluctuated cyclically in the past, and there's an overwhelming body of evidence showing a close correlation with solar activity and other powerful natural factors. If the IPCC had truly examined past temperature developments and compared them to solar data, they'd have seen there is something remarkable there.

Results of the cohort studies reporting data on glyphosate and cancer are shown in Table 2. Flower et al. (2004) evaluated associations between pesticide application by parents and cancer among children born to Iowa participants in the AHS. Female applicators and spouses of male applicators were asked to complete a questionnaire to collect data on children born after 1975.

Summary. Following Hermann von Helmholtz, who described visual perceptions as unconscious inferences from sensory data and knowledge derived from the past, perceptions are regarded as similar to predictive hypotheses of science, but are psychologically projected into external space and accepted as our most immediate reality.
